SIRMium

Sirmium is the only city east of the Danube with a Roman theatre and a mausoleum. It was the capital of the Roman province of Pannonia. The city was named after the river Sirmium, which flows through the town today. Sirmium is also known for its well-preserved ancient city walls, which are a popular tourist attraction. The city was founded in the 1st century AD and was an important center for trade and agriculture. It was a major center for the production of pottery and textiles.

CARSKA PALATA

Carška Palata is a magnificent example of Venetian gothic architecture. It was built in the 13th century and is located in the center of the city. The building is made of pink stone and has a large tower that dominates the skyline. It was initially built as a fortress by the Venetians, but later became a palace for the local nobility. The building is now a museum and is open to the public.

Kruniški most

Kruniški most (Golden Gate) is a bridge that connects the old town with the new town. It was built in the 16th century and is one of the most important landmarks in the city. The bridge was named after a statue of a golden crown that was placed on top of it. It was later replaced by a statue of a golden crown. The bridge is a symbol of the unity of the city and has been a symbol of the city's rich history.
